Types of file names of .swf and .mov files Adobe Flash files contain a serial number that is embedded in the file's extension. Adobe Reader normally displays a notice about the presence of a serial number. For example, the serial number of .swf files is stored in the first four characters of the file name. The serial number is added to the beginning of the file name so that you can identify which version of the file you have. Table 2-2 lists the file name prefixes and serial numbers for .swf and .mov files. Table 2-2. Type of file name for .swf and .mov files
